6. INTERPRETATION:

The Director's Requirements within the scope of this Bulletin are set out in this document, the Land Title (Transfer Forms) Regulation, the Requirements for Electronic Transfer Forms (and any associated addenda), and the Land Titles Electronic Filing System (EFS) User's Guide (and any associated addenda). The precedence (from highest to lowest) of these documents is as follows:

1. Land Title (Transfer Forms) Regulation, B.C. Reg. 53/90;
2. This Practice Bulletin;
3. Any addenda to the Requirements for Electronic Transfer Forms listed in the "Documents" section above. If more than one addenda exists, more recent addenda take precedence over older ones;
4. The valid version of the Requirements for Electronic Transfer Forms, as listed above;
5. Any addenda to the Land Title Electronic Filing System (EFS) User's Guide listed above. If more than one addenda exists, more recent addenda take precedence over older ones; and
6. The valid version of the Land Titles Electronic Filing System (EFS) User's Guide, as listed above.

In the event of any conflict between these documents and the Act or any Regulations under the Act, the Act and Regulations govern.

The electronic filing system has been modelled on the paper system, with only those differences required as a result of use of information technology. Hence, the Requirements for Electronic Transfer Forms has been structured to describe only those changes and extensions to the general requirements for filing documents as set out in the Regulation.

Certain details of the use of the electronic filing system are set out in the Land Titles Electronic Filing System (EFS) User's Guide (the "User's Guide"). The Requirements for Electronic Transfer Forms refers to the User's Guide in several places.

Subsequent uses of the terms "Requirements for Electronic Transfer Forms" and "User's Guide" are to be understood as referring to the valid version of those documents as amended by any addenda listed in section 5.
